

Keys to the Candidates
Fall 2007

I authorize the League of Women Voters and the Herald-Times to publish my responses to this questionnaire in "Keys to the Candidates." I understand that the Herald-Times reserves the right to edit anything the editors deem obscene, libelous or offensive.

Signature:

Date: October 18, 2007

Printed name Jillian Kinzie

PLEASE NOTE: WE CANNOT PUBLISH YOUR RESPONSE UNLESS WE HAVE YOUR SIGNED AUTHORIZATION.

For ALL candidates:

1. What are your qualifications for the office you are seeking? (30 word limit)

I am a committed citizen, having served on the Commission on the Status of Women and with the Volunteer Committee, Lotus Music Festival. I will represent the concerns of District 2 and participate fully in Council deliberations.

For Mayor and Bloomington Common Council:

2. What is your plan for attracting high quality jobs to Bloomington? Which public and private entities will you work with? (100 word limit)

Bloomington is a beautiful and special place. These qualities, plus viable infrastructure, fair economic incentives like Tax Incentive Funding and initiatives to stimulate local economic development, a thriving diverse downtown and educational institutions, make it an attractive community for high quality jobs. Talented and dedicated citizens, the City's Economic Development Services, the Chamber of Commerce, the Downtown Commission, County government, institutions of higher education, and arts and social service organizations, among others, must work together to assure the continuation of what makes Bloomington a great place to live and work.

3. How do you define the city's appropriate role in sustainability? (100 word limit)

The city's role in sustainability is to broadly monitor and assure a balance between today's needs and solutions and tomorrow's viability. City programs and policies must promote practical initiatives that grow our economic base, safeguard our environment and ensure that basic human needs are met today without compromising the quality of life for future generations. Economic and environmental vitality is fostered by attending to the quality of community space, diverse programming, and responsible growth through thoughtful management. City decisions and initiatives must be evaluated based on their potential to promote sustainability.

For Ellettsville Town Council, Ward 3:

2. In your opinion, what are the primary challenges facing Ellettsville? If elected, how will you address them? (100 word limit)
3. How will you revitalize Ellettsville's historic downtown? (100 word limit)

For Stinesville Town Council:

2. What are the three most important issues facing the Stinesville town council? (100 word limit)
3. What are your plans for development in Stinesville? (100 word limit)